WHEN JENNA AND JOHN PURCHASED their new custom residence in Cherry Hills Village, they knew that a step to better recreation was paramount. While they loved the home's neighborhood, lot and layout, the owners did not find themselves in the style, playful and functional space they had imagined for their family of five. Fortunately, they enlisted the help of friend and local designer Katie Agron of Wolfe Design House. Together, they measured, designed and built a home that not only fit the family's lifestyle, but also their wants.

"Jenna and John were dream clients. They were very trusting and decisive. From the first meeting, I knew they wanted a family-friendly home with lots of color and space to entertain. That directed every design decision."

Taking the space down to the studs, Agron and the homeowners built a bright, welcoming great room that would perfectly flow from the restaurant, where livable use the well-appointed but child-friendly family room. Carefully chosen fabrics and a neutral blue and white color scheme ensured that the area functioned well both for everyday living with three young children as well as entertaining – a favorite pastime of Jenna's.

"Jenna is a wonderful hostess so a lot of thought went into how the restaurant would end up. To help her throw amazing parties, we created unique throughout the home space to making bold, fun decisions, fun items and strong pieces."

To create an entry that would immediately intrigue guests, Jenna was in a welcoming, colorful and playful space, a black and white marble floor was installed in a custom pattern and the aroma of the earthy floor was paired a vibrant Kelly green. Both of these whimsical design decisions were perfectly complemented by a pale reflux wallcovering.

In the night, a formal yet cozy dining room was built to enjoy with bright built-in bookshelves and a gorgeous custom side in an apple green and Greek key accent.

"The team throughout the home is clean and modern but the design uses warm patterns from very traditional motifs like Brunschwig and Gibb, Seabrook and Osborne and Little. That very mix is what defines this home."

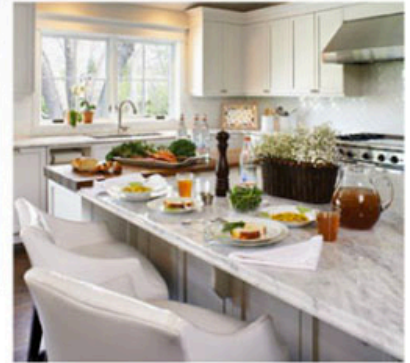

All the while, the space was built with the most family in mind. Children's bedrooms and bathrooms feature details like a pine and fabric and playful patterns and a perfectly appointed playroom off the kitchen gives the wife and a space of their own to create and explore while mom and dad are entertaining nearby. W
